Re: Termination of Attorney/Client Relationship

Dear _____:

During the past _____ months, we have served as your counsel in the _____ litigation. Over the course of this representation, you have paid $_____ in legal fees and expenses. Unfortunately, and contrary to our agreement, you have not made a payment on your account since _____.

At this time, the outstanding and overdue fees and expenses total approximately $_____. While we would like to continue our relationship, we will not finance your case or work without compensation. Until now we have continued to represent you despite the growing delinquent account. We can no longer allow this situation to continue.

Currently, we believe the trial court will permit us to withdraw as your attorneys. There is still sufficient time for you to retain other counsel without jeopardizing your case or adversely affecting the court's calendar. However, if we wait any longer, it is possible that one of these conditions for withdrawal may not exist.

If you obtain new counsel, we will be willing to discuss the case with your counsel under satisfactory arrangements to satisfy the outstanding account. Additionally, certain work product has been generated during the course of the representation. We will share it with new counsel to the extent our legal obligations require in the absence of full payment.

I enclose a notice of withdrawal that will be filed with the court in 10 days from the date of this letter. In the meantime, if you wish us to continue representing you, we would be pleased to do so if satisfactory arrangements are made to take care of the overdue account, and to ensure payment of future billings.

I look forward to hearing from you, and remain hopeful you can remain a client of the firm.

Sincerely,
